

Freebord

Contributed by B40Z3R
Saturday, 14 February 2004
Last Updated Friday, 14 July 2006

We've reviewed the Freebord in the past, but if you're unfamiliar with it, it's worth checking out. A reader sent this blurb in...

The Freebord is an up and coming sport that is based out of San Francisco. "Snowboarding is a mix of carving and sliding motions but conventional skateboards aren't designed to slide. Freebord carves and slides just like a snowboard. You can hug a tight turn or drift a long, gentle slide; flip the board into fakie or float a 360. Right down to the feel of its weighting and edging, the Freebord ride is snowboarding. Master a trick on the street then take it to the slopes next winter." -Freebord.

Check out this video of the Freebord at top speeds down some of the most butter terrain.
<http://www.freebord.com/floater/5635.htm>

You can get your freebord at <http://www.freebord.com/floater/5635.htm>> and be apart of the next big thing.