

New in the Live Chat: Thursday Nights with Mike

Contributed by easyrider2004
Wednesday, 15 March 2006
Last Updated Friday, 14 July 2006

Starting March 16th, join Michael Brooke, the publisher, editor and "man-behind-the-curtain" of Concrete Wave Magazine in our live chat room. It's every Thursday, at 5:00pm, Pacific, (which is known to many as 8 o'clock Eastern). Chat with Michael about skateboard history, or the future of skateboarding. Ask him about the skaters in great articles you've read in the past, or give him ideas about new ones. Chatter about your last, or next, great session.

It's all up to you, and totally informal. All you have to do is enter the "Live Longboard Chat" system, and look for "Skategeezer". That's Michael. Need some help getting in there? Click to read more.

To get into the Live Longboard Chat, you have to do three things:

1. Enter the Forums on Silverfish,
2. Click on the "Live Longboard Forum" hot text that's up above the Forum listings.
3. Look to see which of the several "rooms" Skategeezer is in. The names change for fun, but the format remains the same.

It's a "Flash Chat" system we use. So, if you're on dialup, there may be some delays. Just hang tight and have fun!