If you haven't seen the new video that has been released by the Who Is Adam Colton crew over at Loaded you really need to. It is an immaculate rendition of the freedom that longboarding can provide. Not to mention an unreal showcase of the nature of the Loaded decks taken to the extreme. Anyone who is a fan of their past videos will not be let down. For anyone that doesn't know who the Adam team is, it's a hell of an introduction. As a native to the DC area it's killer to see the the temporary autonomous zone created by the rider. Check it!
