Hurray, jump up and click your heels the 1st montage is done. I included one photo from everyone who sent in a photo. A big hug and kiss to everyone that participated and I hope more will participate in October's Halloween montage.

Here is the link for the Montage

Special thanks to my main man Vinni, who did the music for the montage, he is apart of a one-man band called One Guy Trio, here are Vini's thoughts.

One Guy Trio is a one-piece group from Bradford, MA. "Tired of looking for people to play with, I decided that I had enough music inside me to start a band by myself. In October/05 I recorded a 3 song acoustic demo, using a guitar, a ukulele, some whistling and a few cheap percussion instruments. Everything was recorded on a home PC though a 25-dollar mic.

A few months later, another demo was recorded (again with 3 songs), this time at a friend's house with a little more technology and mostly electric instruments. A new song, called winter, was specially record in September/06 for the silverfish photo montage. The Beatles, The Decemberists, Bob Dylan, David Bowie (and many, many more) are between my favorite artists but the influences of the band go beyond music. The feeling of a nice Sunday afternoon cruise (I also longboard) or a talk with a stranger in a neighborhood coffee shop are, sometimes, far more inspiring to me. I'm not sure what path the band (formed by me and my 2 alter-egos) is going take. Maybe I'll find some nice people to start a new band with, maybe I'll go on by myself, but regardless of what I do I know that life is way better with music, and I won't let the music stop!

Thank you very much Adam Squared, Silverfish and Loaded for giving me the opportunity to expose my ideas shaped as a song, and thank YOU that took a minute of your day to pay attention to what I have to say and play.
